

I blame it on the Daily Mail

“I demand to see the consultant,
and I do know my rights.
My taxes pay his salary,
I will wait here all night.”

“What did you say your name was?
- just let me write that down.
Want to know who’s seeing my father;
who is this latest clown?”

“Have waited weeks for this appointment,
and now sat out there all day.
He just needs this hernia fixed right now
- what’s with all the delay?”

“Why can’t you do the op next week,
or come to think of it, today?
I bet you’d somehow slot him in
If we were offering to pay.”

“Can you guarantee no superbugs,
c. diff or MRSA?
We know all about your filth you know
- saw Panorama the other day”

“It won’t be you operating will it?
you look way too young by far.
Don’t care it’s a teaching hospital
- you’re not practising on my pa.”

“I demand to see the consultant now,
For I’ve acted with restraint.
But this whole thing is disgusting,
and I wish to make a complaint.”
